Autumn Excursion - The Watercress Line

18th September 2018

The Watercress Line is a heritage railway offering an experience of nostalgic sights, sounds and smells of steam as you travel through 10 miles of Hampshire countryside. Located just seven miles from the ancient city of Winchester, you can join the line at the picturesque Georgian town of Alresford or at the bustling market town of Alton.

Alresford station is where the watercress, that gave the line its name, was sent all over the country by train. Visit the West Country Buffet for hot meals, snacks and drinks, and gift shop for souvenirs.

Tickets for this trip are available from Peter Cavell
